The Utah Valley Chapter of the American Guild of Organists is presenting an organ recital to honor Carol Dean, who passed away in 2018. The program takes place at 7 p.m. Friday at The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints building located at 1220 W. 500 North. Admission is free.

The concert will feature Dean's former students and colleagues playing the music of Johann Sebastian Bach, Dean's favorite composer.

According to a press release, Dean was a popular instructor at local organ workshops and taught hundreds of BYU students in group organ classes at the university. She also regularly traveled from her home to give private organ lessons in churches and homes.
