Conquer Stage Fright: Perform with Confidence!

1. Understand the physiology and psychology of stage fright
2. Complete 50 relaxation sessions
3. Establish an optimal performance mindset
4. Use the Five Stages of Peak Performance
5. Positive performance practice

1. Understanding stage fright

Stage fright is caused by the activation of your body's stress response (mid brain). You have been triggered by the presence of a real or imagined danger. "Super juice" is now flooding your mind and body. Fight, flight or freeze takes over. The more it upsets you, the more intense it gets until you determine that you are safe.

Physical Symptoms

Muscle tension
Increased heart rate
Shallow, rapid breathing
Cold, clammy hands
Dry mouth
Stomach distress

Emotional Symptoms

Distorted thinking
Feeling overwhelmed
Distracted or hyper-focused
Emotionally upset
Desire to run away
Loss of confidence

Interventions for stage fright

1. Relaxation exercises
2. The ten-count breathing exercise
3. Unlock the breath
4. "My body's activated, so what!"
5. Mental rehearsal/visualization
6. Create an optimal performance mindset: Bold, Confident, Free!
7. Positive self talk: "If it's not life threatening, it's trivial!"
8. Use the Five Stages of Peak Performance
9. Positive performance practice

The Five Stages of Peak Performance©

Stage I. The foundation

What is your goal or intention?

Why are you pursuing this goal? What is your motivation?

How are you committed to being as you pursue this goal?

Write down three words that describe how you are committed to being as you pursue your performance goal.

Trigger words: _____

Stage II. Ready!

Skill acquisition and mastery – Practice, Practice, Practice!

Constant self-awareness: evaluate, critique, experiment, observe, adjust.

Mental preparation/visualization.

How are you being as you pursue your goal?

What is incomplete? What is your plan to complete it?

When you plan your work and work your plan, your plan works!

Important: Declaring your preparation complete allows you to perform with freedom. Declare complete what is incomplete!

Stage III. Set!

Get yourself mentally and physically set to perform.

Physical preparation includes your costume, props, transportation, food, grooming, etc.

Being mentally set: attention control, positive self-talk and mindset.

Pre-performance routines (warm-up routines) to access motor programs. No Rituals!!

Trigger words to access the desired mental states for the performance.

How are you being? Confident, Expressive, Bold!

Stage IV. Go!

The performance.

Step into the sandbox, stay in the sandbox! Go Play!

Limited self-awareness, a present focus of awareness, ease, flow, in the zone.

No thoughts of victory, no thoughts of defeat!

Stage V. The post performance debriefing

Each performance is a practice in performing.

What worked?

What didn't work?

What will you do next time?

No post performance bashing!
